We need at least 24 hours minimum to get you set up linking our tax agency with your tax credentials and the link to the ATO Portal which we need to prepared and lodge your tax.

4.The ATO's Substantiation Rules & Agreement

All Clients are reminded and agree that they can substantiate all tax claims.

The ATO has provided three rules in determining whether the deduction your claiming is eligible:

1. The taxpayer must have incurred the expense – and not have been reimbursed
2. The expense must be incurred in gaining or producing assessable income.
3. The claim must comply with substantiation rules – i.e. all records must be kept.

Records are usually a receipt from the supplier of the goods or services. You need to keep these for five years from when you lodge your tax return in case the ATO ask you to substantiate your claims

Your receipts must show: Name of the supplier, date of the document, amount of expense, nature of goods and services. You declare that you have kept all the necessary documents to satisfy all the ATO evidence requirements.

Claiming mobile phone, internet and home phone expenses

If you use your own phone or internet for work purposes, you may be able to claim a deduction if all of the following conditions apply:

If you use your phone or internet for both work and private use, you will need to work out the percentage that reasonably relates to your work use.

To claim a deduction of more than $50, you need to keep records for a four-week representative period in each income year. These records may include diary entries, including electronic records, and bills.

Car method 1: Cents per Kilometre car expenses

- Your claim is based on a set rate for each business kilometre.
- You can claim a maximum of 5,000 business kilometres per car, per year.
- You do not need written evidence, but you need to be able to show how you worked out your business kilometres.
